2 What cookies are

Cookies are small text files placed on your browser or device when you visit a website. They help websites recognise your device, remember settings, maintain sessions, improve security and understand how users interact with online services.

We may also use similar technologies such as pixels, tags, scripts, local storage objects and log-based identifiers. For convenience, this Policy uses the word "cookies" to refer to both cookies and similar device-level technologies unless the context requires otherwise.

5 Consent and legal rules

Where applicable law requires consent before storing or accessing non-essential cookies or similar technologies on your device, we will request that consent through a banner, Cookie Settings tool or equivalent control before those technologies are activated.

Strictly necessary cookies may be used without consent where that is permitted by law because they are required to provide the service you requested, maintain security or remember your privacy choices.

Your choices are generally stored at the browser and device level, which means that if you switch browsers or devices, clear cookies or use private browsing mode, we may ask you to choose again.

6 Third-party cookies

Depending on the relevant page or feature, third-party providers may set cookies relating to analytics, payment processing, fraud prevention, chat, media, attribution, affiliate tracking, consent management or embedded content.

We do not control third-party cookies once they are placed except to the extent we control whether the relevant third-party service is loaded on the Website. If you move to a third-party website, including any separate CMC Markets site, that site will control its own cookies.

CMC Markets Singapore Pte. Ltd. or its approved service providers may receive cookie-derived, device, attribution, campaign or usage data where enabled, lawful and necessary for approved marketing, analytics, brand, governance or operational-support activities. This does not make CMC Markets Singapore the operator of the Website or the contracting party for our Services.

7 Cookie list and retention

The exact list of active cookies and similar technologies may change over time as we add, remove or update providers or features. Where available, the most current operational list is shown in our live Cookie Settings or consent tool.
